

(B) James Denmark, son of William Denmark, married Susan Rice daughter of William Rice, a Scotchman. They moved 70 or 80 years ago to the State of Mississippi. His descendants are numerous in Mississippi and he is probably the ancestor of the Danmarks of Texas, and those of the name in other states of the South West.

(C) Redding Denmark my grandfather, son of William Denmark, was born in Bulloch County, Ga., in the year 1770 and died in 1814. He married Levinia Wice, daughter of William Rice. She was a sister to Susan, wife of James Denmark. Redding Denmark had two sons, Thomas Irving Denmark, my father, and John Denmark. He had two daughters, one of them named Elizabeth married James Croover and moved from Bulloch County to what is now Brooks County, Ga., of which the town of Quitman is the capital or County site. Their descendants who live in and about Quitman must run into the hundreds and are of the best people in the state. I need not trouble you with the names of other Aunts in my father's side, as I have said nothing of their families and know very little of them.

(D) Malachi Denmark, son of William Denmark, married Jane Rice, daughter of William Rice. You will perceive that the Danmarks believed in taking of the Rice and from the same fountain. Malachi had a large number of children, sons and daughters. His sons were James, Redding, Allen, William, Thomas, Stephen and Malachi. Redding was a physician. Malachi's other children, or their descendants have not risen to any prominence so far as I know. They live in different sections of this state and Florida, and probably other states. Some of them are still about Statesboro, Bulloch County Ga. Those whom I have known are good people. Malachi, the father, son of William, was himself a man of some local prominence in Bulloch Co., having frequently represented his County in the Legislature of this State. That, however, was long before I was born.

(3) Thomas Irving Denmark, my father, son of Redding Denmark, was born in Bulloch County, Ga., on September 30, 1809; he married xxxx was married to Anna Neiner Croover, daughter of Charles Croover of the same County, on December 1st, 1831. My mother died August 15, 1880, and my father died January 13, 1887. After about six years after the marriage of my parents, to-wit in 1837 or 1838, they moved to Brooks County Ga., where they spent the balance of their years. My father was a planter. My parents had 13 children 6 sons and 7 daughters,

Dear Mrs. Huyer,

I read the F.P. this past week and what a thrill it was to read your entry. I've been a subscriber 4 years and yours was the best yet for me. I descend from Louisa Denmark who married Frederick Rester in about 1784 and migrated to Miss. Tenn. or by 1810. Frederick + Louisa (Louisa) had grown children about the time they left for the West. Gideon and David are their two older children. Some one mistakenly sent us they were Frederick's brothers to Sufford.

In my research I sent for the Rev. War file on Frederick. Poor Louisa didn't get the pension, but she left a goldmine in the Archives.

I am sending you one of the "jewels" a page from William Denmark's family Bible and it shows your Redding's real birthday. Those queries do help.

It was really good to get the Mary B. Warren explanation regarding the 2 Mayo boys. A book that I've found very helpful is "Bullard Co. Records for Gen. Research" by Alvaratta K. Register for sale at the Public Library in Statesboro, Ga.

2. There's a lot of information on the Deemarks.
Also for sale there is a Bullock Co. Map with a lot of the original land owners. They missed some, but it's pretty complete. It's a large map, but could be mailed in a tube.

I would love to exchange information with you. I was surprised to find the Deemarks were Irish. I felt sure they were German, just from the name.

I look forward to hearing from you. It's not everyday a person finds a new Cousin.

Sincerely,

DENMARK

AN ACT: To Authorize Redden and Malachi Moye to bear the name of Denmark.

WHEREAS: Redden and Malachi Moye, have generally been called and known by the names of Redden and Malachi Denmark, and under those names have made various contracts and engagements; And whereas, it is their wish and desire to bear the name of Denmark, and to be authorized and confirmed therein by law.

BE IT therefore enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Georgia in General Assembly met, and by the authority of the same, that the said Redden and Malachi, be fully authorized to bear, use and retain the name of Denmark, and they are hereby confirmed therein. And all contracts and engagements made by them or either of them under that name, shall be equally valid to all intents and purposes, as if the same had been or were made in the name of Moye, anything to the contrary notwithstanding.

November 18, 1808
John Filledge, Governor

Abraham Jackson, Speaker
David Emanuel, President of Senate

(Letter E.O. Parker) (1789-1846)

Malachi Denmark (whose step-father William Denmark settled in Effingham County, about 1800) married Jane, or "Jinney" Wise, daughter of William Wise, and reared 18 children. He was sent to the General Assembly of Georgia, taking his seat in the House Nov. #, 1823, and served until 1827 when he entered the Senate for one term. He was a delegate to the Constitutional or "Reduction" Conventions of 1833 and 1839, held in the State Capitol, Milledgeville. He was an ultra conservative and supported the principles of Andrew Jackson. An advocate of economy in government, he opposed the creation of a board of public works, a system of internal improvements and establishment of a national bank; he worked for prison reform, proposed biennial sessions of the legislature, believed any interference by Congress with the institution of slavery to be unconstitutional, and opposed distribution of the proceeds from the public lands among the states, feeling that this would lead to assumption of the state debts and inevitably to the necessity for a protective tariff. He died in October, 1846.

"William Denmark resided 'partly opposite flat ford on the Great Road North side of Great Ogeechee, about a half mile below Hickory Bluff.' (Opposite Stilson, Ga.) Descendents live in Bulloch County.

James Denmark married Susanna Wise.

Redden Denmark married Lavinia (Winnie) Wise. She was born in S.C. 1786 (1775-1813) and died in Lowndes Co. 1857. His widow and children moved to Lowndes Co. after his untimely death in Bulloch Co. He was a successful farmer.

William Denmark (from North Carolina) lived near Stilson. Malachi Denmark lived on a farm located on upper Black Creek and Poplar Branch below the Brannen "Old Mill" near Brooklet, adjoining the lands of his brother Redden. Neighbors of Malachi Denmark in 1820 were: Wm. McNeely, Sherrod McCall, John Hawle, John Everett, David Lastinger, Seth Williams, John Green, William Brannen, Abel Lee, James Lewis, Sr., James Lewis, Jr., Ephraim Chambliss, Francis Akins etc.
